
Badbury Minimus

Purpose

Badbury Minimus is a principle, which may be a new concept.

There are no dodges, but it provides an opportunity to practise turning around in thirds place and making long fourths.

There are no treble signposts.

Ringing Badbury Minimus

All bells ring the same line, alternating thirds and long fourths.

Jargon

In a principle all bells perform the same work, starting at different points. Other examples of commonly rung principles are Stedman and Erin.
